HEADTEACHER NEWS

Welcome to our weekly bulletin for Parents. It has been another very busy week at Colfox! Firstly congratulations to all Students who performed at the Colfox Christmas Carol Concert, it was a wonderful evening. Thank you to Mr Hocking and all staff and Friends of Colfox who supported the event and also to St Mary's Church for hosting us. We also enjoyed the Library Readathon this week, thanks again to the Friends of Colfox group for providing lovely Christmas craft activities and to all teachers who read. The longest paper chain ever seen at Colfox was created and a lot of fun was had. We have another fun week planned next week with our Sixthform leading the way with Rag Week. Don't forget Thursday, the last day of term for Students, is a non-uniform day. Good luck to the 90+ Students who have signed up to tackle the GCHQ Christmas Challenge today. I wish you all a very peaceful weekend,

Adam Shelley Headteacher

GCHQ Christmas Challenge!

More than 90 Students have signed up for the GCHQ Christmas Challenge - a series of puzzles aimed at students aged 11-18. Students have to work together to solve puzzles that reveal a secret message. GCHQ is one of the UK's Intelligence and Security agencies and the puzzles are fun but also designed to demonstrate the kind of thinking the agency looks for. A GCHQ spokesman said: "We require a mix of approaches to solve real world puzzles and because of that we encourage diverse thinking that embraces neurodiversity."
