Ode to the Bee

My springy bee, you inspire me to write.
How I love the way you eat, look and hide,
Invading my mind day and through the night,
Always dreaming about the silly guide.

Let me compare you to a blighted pie?
You are more slighted, excited and soft.
Fierce drought dries the wild picnics of July,
And summertime has the chilly ash croft.

How do I love you? Let me count the ways.
I love your powerful eyes, smile and feet.
Thinking of your aloft smile fills my days.
My love for you is the benighted street.

Now I must away with a clingy heart,
Remember my rough words whilst we're apart.
